

INSTITUTO PORTUGUÊS DE RELAÇÕES INTERNACIONAIS
UNIVERSIDADE NOVA DE LISBOA

Editorial Status

The Portuguese Institute of International Relations of the New University of Lisbon (PIIT) was created in 2002 as an academic center of scientific research which includes the publication of a peer reviewed journal on international relations and foreign policy.

The journal, named International Relations, is headed by the director of the Portuguese Institute of International Relations, assisted by a Board of Councilors composed by senior researchers of PIIT and other academics with recognized merits. A Council of Advisors will also be formed with national and foreign researchers, as well as policy makers or think tankers.

The Director and Councils of International Relations are committed to respect the best academic practices, professional ethics and deontological rules to assure the quality and impartiality of the publication.
